

Canada's Perimeter Institute for Theoretical Physics welcomes applications for The Simons Emmy Noether Fellows Program. This fellowship is central to Perimeter Institute's initiatives to support female physicists. Perimeter Institute promotes an inclusive, welcoming culture and a family-friendly workplace.

The Fellowship provides financial and organizational support for relocation, which may include some or all of the following:

- teaching buyouts
- salary support or top-up
- local expenses
- accommodation
- return transportation and research-related travel
- reimbursement as required for child care

The Simons Emmy Noether Visiting Fellowships are held for periods of up to one year. PhD physicists who are currently in faculty positions at universities or equivalent at a research centre are especially encouraged to apply.

More information and application details can be found at perimeterinstitute.ca/emmynoether

Deadline for applications is January 9, 2023
